

January News

Mrs. Rockhold

Happy New Year! I hope all of you enjoyed the holiday season. I had fun spending time with family and friends, and I am looking forward to our January lesson plan.

January Learning Theme

Famous Artists

When looking at famous artists we will be learning about different cultures through their painting, drawing, and sculpture. This unit will help our visual discrimination skills, increase verbal abilities, and teach us how we can communicate through our art.

The children will begin writing their first and last names. We will continue to work on lower case letters, writing from top to bottom, and left to right.

Letter of the Week

This month we will be looking at C, E, Y, and G.

Volunteers

We will need help with woodworking the week the 17th-19th. Please let me know if you are able to help. If you are not able to help on a scheduled volunteer day, you are welcome to spend time with us whenever it is convenient for you. With cognitive assessments coming up, I just ask that you speak with me before hand.

Cognitive Assessments

Beginning this month and continuing through March, I will be assessing the children's cognitive abilities. In order for this to go as smoothly as possible and to make this a fun endeavor for the children I ask that you please arrive at school as close to the start time as possible. Most assessments will take place during the first forty five minutes of class and are done in the form of fun, one on one game and activities. Also, if you are planning on a vacation during these months please let me know. Thank you!
